Fuel for Thought

So, what's been the most favorite car you've ever owned, and why?

Mine is the 1973 Fiat Spider convertible my 1st husband (John #1) and I bought in 1978. It was for me, and it was my choice. It was my 1st convertible and I loved driving it with the top down. I remember driving it in the rain one day and while waiting at a red light, the sun suddenly came out, so I simply reached up, unhooked the 2 latches above the windshield, and pushed the top down behind me. I had the wind in my hair again. This was my favorite because it was my introduction to convertibles.

We had this car for 3 years and when baby #2 came, we sold it since it really did not have a back seat. I drove the usual family station wagon for a several years, but in 1989 with the kids in their teens, my husband surprised me with my 1st Mustang convertible, a 1985 burgundy-colored with a white top. The wind was once again in my hair!

Happy Valentine's Day to all!

WOW Women On Wheels

Wow lunch was great fun, sorry some of you ladies couldn't make it. Cardos served a great French onion soup! Delicious and will for sure go back again. The month of Feb. we will be meeting at "Catfish Annies" next to Taylors gas station in Payson at 11:am Feb. 8th. I know that sounds odd for a ladies luncheon, but the food is very good and the owner would be so happy to have us. If a spice in your food isn't something you care for, I have had their chicken and dumplings and it is to die for!! After, we will be going to see Phantom Thread @1pm starring Daniel Day Lewis. This should be a fun day for all our gals.

Sending along a belated HAPPY NEW YEAR and all the best to you wonderful ladies!! Sue H

The Train Ticket

Three women and three men are travelling by train to the football game.

At the station, the three men each buy a ticket and watch as the three women buy just one ticket.

"How are the three of you going to travel on only one ticket?" asks one of the men.

"Watch and learn," answers one of the women.

They all board the train.

The three men take their respective seats but all three women cram into a toilet together and close the door. Shortly after the train has departed, the conductor comes around collecting tickets.

He knocks on the toilet door and says, "Ticket, please." The door opens just a crack, and a single arm emerges with a ticket in hand.

The conductor takes it and moves on.

The men see this happen and agree it was quite a clever idea; so, after the game, they decide to do the same thing on the return trip and save some money.

When they get to the station they buy a single ticket for the return trip but see, to their astonishment, that the three women don't buy any ticket at all!!

"How are you going to travel without a ticket?" asks one perplexed man.

"Watch and learn," answer the women.

When they board the train, the three men cram themselves into a toilet, and the three women cram into a toilet just down the way.

Shortly after the train is on its way, one of the women leaves her toilet and walks over to the toilet in which the men are hiding. She knocks on their door and says, "Ticket please."

I'm still trying to figure out why men think they are smarter than women.

Thanks to Ron Trainor for this bit of wisdom!
